EXCLUSIVE USE AREAS . . . WHAT YOU GET IS OFTEN NOT WHAT YOU SEE!

By: Karen Bleijs, Sectional Title Attorney

Most people know that the common property in a sectional scheme is owned by all members of the body corporate in undivided shares. But misconceptions around exclusive use areas (e.u.a's) still abound . . .

An e.u.a. ALWAYS form part of the common property at a scheme, simply because everything shown on the sectional plan that does not form part of a section always forms part of the common property.

Transformation within the Real Estate Sector

The Estate Agency Affairs Board (“the EAAB”) cordially invites both members of the general public and practicing estate agents, whether or not a valid fidelity fund certificate has been issued to them by the EAAB, or former estate agents who may wish to re-enter the estate agency sector, to attend a stakeholder engagement workshop at a venue most accessible to them.

The aim of the workshop is to share the EAAB’s novel, exciting and innovative transformation opportunities that are now available to all Previously Disadvantaged Individuals (“PDI’s”) in the fast evolving real estate sector.

The primary objective of the workshop is to ensure the rapid, meaningful and sustainable transformation of the real estate sector to be more representative of South African demographics.

We look forward to your attendance at the workshops and interacting with you in the interests of a transformed real estate profession.

New Introductory Programme

NAMA AND ENTERPRISES UNIVERSITY OF PRETORIA – ANNOUNCES NEW INTRODUCTORY PROGRAMME IN SECTIONAL TITLE MANAGEMENT

NAMA believes that education is the best investment. It is also NAMA's mission to nurture growth in the industry and to adequately train professionals to effectively manage the affairs of community schemes.

It is not only important that a community scheme employs the services of an accredited, well-trained and successful managing agent but that a managing agent company can employ a professional property manager.

Since the latter part of 2016 the NAMA Executive envisioned a joint collaboration with Enterprises University of Pretoria to develop a programme that will not only professionalise the industry but provide a career path for people working in the industry. It was further envisaged that this would move NAMA and the industry closer to widespread acceptance of community scheme management as a profession.

We are delighted to announce that NAMA and the University of Pretoria, have completed the development of the 1st phase, being the introductory programme, of a three-year course in sectional title management.

It is anticipated that this programme will improve standards of professional practices and enhance the reputation of the community scheme profession.

NAMA envisions that this programme will align the organisation with international standards and be at the forefront of endorsing and accrediting membership to the organisation in the future.

RESULTANT DAMAGE TO A UNIT

By: Mike Addison, Addsure

Mr. X suffers resultant damages to his or her section because of the burst geyser.

He/she rejects the appointment of a contractor by the managing agent and states that the damage must be assessed, and he will then obtain his own contractor. He wants the cash pay-out.

He/she never attends to the repairs and the sagging ceilings deteriorate further.
